

Curb Appeal vs. The Brown and Blue Monsters!

They do give a unified look on garbage and recycling days, and keep the trash inside the container with attached lids, but let's face it. Although unified and tidy, they aren't exactly works of art! They are trashcans. We certainly wouldn't put them in our living rooms, so why would we keep them in front of our houses?

Most residents work very hard to keep their property maintained and attractive. We mow, edge, landscape our lawns, and paint our houses. Sometimes we even add fountains and sculpture; however, large brown and blue trash containers do nothing but destroy the overall curb appeal of our homes.

Lets all do our part by providing a space for our new trash and recycling containers – out of sight.
